The Civic Responsibility Foundation is private, independent grantmaking institution. It combines the venture philanthropy (VP) model with traditional grantmaking, applying the VP model to strategically important local NGOs (advocacy organisations and community philanthropy organisations) and social entrepreneurs.

It is the only organisation applying the venture philanthropy model in Lithuania, however, it is still in the initial phase of the process.

The Foundation's traditional grantmaking takes the form of creating and implementing long-term support programmes in the areas where NGOs can become self-sustaining (fundraising activities, working with volunteers, developing their own services, etc).

Currently, Civic Responsibility Foundation manages a portfolio of nine NGOs and community foundations as its long-term investees/grantees.

In September 2009, together with a partner organisation, the Foundation launched the country's first online giving portal – www.aukok.lt (donate). The website facilitates electronic donations to selected NGO projects.
